A range of fruit purées that's full of good common sense

4 commitments are enough to make a difference

Florent Baillard
Blackcurrant producer
Mercueil, France

MORE RESPECT 1

For people and for the earth

Our partner farmers are true collaborators, so we make sure that they are working in good conditions. We collaborate with them on an agroecological approach. For example, we work with expert farmers who are able to treat their crops with outside agents less often, producing pesticide residue-free* lemons, apricots, peaches, coconuts and pears.

MORE TRACEABILITY 2

For transparency and honesty that works

It's simple – we want you to know everything about the fruits we use, so you can tell their stories to your customers. At Adamance, all our fruit can be traced right back to the producer. For example, our blackcurrants are Blackdown and Andorine blackcurrants grown by Florent Baillard on a plot of land with High Environmental Value certification in Mercueil.

MORE FRUIT 3

For 100% fruit purées

Our purées are made of nothing but fruit. We want them to be just as delicious as nice, ripe produce picked from the tree or bush. That's why we chose our IGP Syracuse lemons, harvested only from January to March - to make sure the flavor is at its most powerful. To preserve the flavor and color of our fruit with zero additives, we use a unique technical process, which is performed quickly at low temperatures, without oxygen.

MORE SERVICES 4

So that we can create things with you

Every day, we work to reinvent how fruit is used and to enhance its flavor in gastronomy (in cooking, ice cream-making, pastry-making, chocolate-making and mixology, among others). A good example of this is our intense mousse! What we want most of all is that you feel proud and happy to use these recipes and talk about them to your customers!
